David F. Wnendt (Author/Director), Jonas Schmager (Camera),

Joerg Schneider (Commissioning editor),

Renee Frotscher (Producer), Martens film- und fernsehproduktion,

ZDF - Das Kleine Fernsehspiel (Co-Producers)

The jury was impressed by the quality and the craftsmanship of the entries this year. Most of them were willing to take risks and were tackling difficult subjects in ambitious ways.

We noticed that that most of them were theme-led subjects and heavy...

Therefore we would like to encourage the broadcasters and the future newcomers to also consider lighter drama genres. There is certainly also a craftsmanship to be developed in comedy and feelgood genres.

The jury would like to award the PRIX GENEVE-EUROPE to a story which contains great complexity of plot, strong characters, texture and relevance.

The script explores the motivations which drive young girls into the arms of extremist demagogues.

The jury was impressed by the way the writer succeeded in telling a universal story in a particular arena, made very plausible.

★ Whose side you are on, who would you support: The mouse? The cat? Or the dog? Multilingualism turns out to be a hopefully long lasting peace keeping force in this amusing and witty animation. It shows the eternal interracial war and chase and a really surprising love as a sort of happy ending. This programme includes the sexiest kiss of the festival.
